@ i4c

Improvisors Exchange @ I4C is proud to host Tatsuya Nakatani. Nakatani is an acoustic sound artist, percussionist with a distinctive approach to performance on drums, large hand-hammered Chinese gongs, and Japanese Buddhist bowls. Employing traditional and extended techniques utilizing handmade hardwood-bows, specially carved sticks and an occasional kitchen tool Nakatani manifests intense, organic music representing a very personal sonic world. His solo and collaborative performances have been presented in North America, Europe, South America and Asia, and since the late 1990's he has released over sixty recordings. His most recent project is the Nakatani Gong Orchestra, a non-traditional music orchestra delving into the rich harmony of multiple gongs. WORKSHOP

With Joe Morris and Stephen Haynes

The Improvisations series was created in 2011, and offers nine concerts each season and is now in its third year of presenting. Stephen Haynes and Joe Morris, who perform with a guest, or guests, sharing concerts of completely improvised music, curate the series. To date, their guests have included Tyshawn Sorey, William Parker, Ken Vandermark, Mark Dresser, Kyoko Kitamura, Fay Victor, Ingrid Laubrock, Sara Schoenbeck, Nate Wooley, and many others. The current season of Improvisations concludes with an evening-long assembly of musicians that mixes well-known players with emerging players in a series of ad hoc groupings of various sizes and culminating with all the players performing in the large ensemble, Abstract Forest.

WHAT: New Orleans Airlift presents a performance by Tatsuya Nakatani and the Nakatani Gong Orchestra featuring the interactive sound installation Alterpiece by Taylor Lee Shepherd

2014 Tatsuya Nakatani Tour Schedule

WHEN: Saturday, November 22nd at 8PM

WHERE: St Maurice Church, 605 St. Maurice Ave New Orleans, LA 70117

HOW MUCH: $10.00 at the door or purchase your tickets in advance here: <http://www.brownpapertickets.com/event/961982>

New Orleans Airlift is excited to present a very special concert by avant-garde percussionist Tatsuya Nakatani and his Nakatani Gong Orchestra (NGO) featuring locally selected musicians Donald Miller, Chris Robert, Paula-Anne Socco Anicete, Alec Vance, Kathleen Krauss, Marcus Bronson, Jay Steigner, Susan Millar-Boldissar, Andrew Wiseman and other guests curated by Rob Cambre. They will perform with Taylor Lee Shepherd's sound installation Alterpiece. Alterpiece is made from over 50 televisions that are placed upon the church altar and reflect sound waves, responding to the musicians sound. This is the third in the Space Rites Performance Series, which will continue through January 2015. Airlift is proud to present his beautiful collaboration between visual art and music in the epic sanctuary of St. Maurice Church, a creative space by the Creative Alliance of New Orleans. NGO is a non-traditional music orchestra, directed by Tatsuya Nakatani, an acoustic sound artist and percussionist. Originally from Japan, he is now based in Easton, PA and New York City. For each show, he gives specialized training to locally selected gong players. Each player is able to quickly learn about the gong instruments, playing techniques and sign conducting from Nakatani. This is the only bowing-based Gong orchestra to exist in the world. NGO has performed all over the U.S. including the Kennedy Center and MOCA Cleveland. Audience members have said "I have never experienced this before", in addition they describe having pure cleansing feeling after the event. Nakatani's approach to music is visceral, non-linear and intuitively primitive, expressing an unusually strong spirit while avoiding any categorization. He creates sound via both traditional and extended percussion techniques, utilizing drums, bowed gongs, cymbals, singing bowls, metal objects and bells, as well as various sticks, kitchen tools and homemade bows, all of which manifest in an intense and organic music that represents a very personal sonic world. His approach is steeped in the sensibilities of free improvisation, experimental music, jazz, rock, and noise, and yet retains the sense of space and quiet beauty found in traditional Japanese folk music.

Erik Bookhardt, Arts Writer for the Gambit writes:

New Orleans Airlift always seems to rise to the occasion, and this year its Space Rites in the Lower 9th Ward explores previously uncharted territory. ....Dubbed "resurrection technology" by Rev. Charles Duplessis, who incorporates (The oscilloscopes) into his Sunday morning services, their metaphysical aura was evident on the evening of Oct. 26, when the Murmurations choir joined the Lower 9th Ward Senior Center Gospel Choir. The church, .... is the perfect venue for such festive down-home otherworldliness.
